SEEKING appointments well adapted to the town or country house, however modest or pretentious its character, the visitor to the new Galleries of this establishment will be gratified by the extraordinary variety of the Furniture available here for immediate delivery.

The exhibits contain countless groups and pieces of unusual charm, yet moderate in cost. The entire collection, withal, reflects that subtle distinction which the discerning cannot fail to recognize between merely "good" Furniture and Cabinetry produced by artisans who work in the spirit as well as in the woods of the masters of long ago.

Thus, the policy is sustained which for two-score years has conferred upon this house a position unique in the field of industrial art.
